Enjoy Repetition

1. Sing songs with repetitive lyrics. Choose fun books with recurring phrases. Join a child in favorite activities again and again.

2. Imitate your baby as you play together. Pause for your toddler to add repeating words. Listen to a preschooler retell a story.

3. When you enjoy repetition you help children listen purposefully, learn by constructing meaning, and anticipate interactions.

For more family-friendly materials about childhood hearing loss, listening/language/speech and education visit http://www.jtc.org/ideas-advice/video-tips/